

HEALTH WORKFORCE LISTENING SESSION

Yakima Valley College - June 26

Help us plan smarter: Washington can more effectively plan for our future health workforce when we understand the needs of businesses, healthcare employers, and educators across the state.

Those who live and work in Washington's rural communities are the experts in their local resources and partnerships. Healthcare employers, consumers and businesses are encouraged to attend this interactive session to talk with state health workforce planners, educators, and policymakers about their experiences with what's working and what's not for students, employees, facilities, and communities.

Date: Wednesday, June 26, 1:30 to 4:30 p.m.

Location: Yakima Valley College,
1704 W. Nob Hill Blvd., Building #38 Yakima, WA 98901

Please register in advance to attend

Participation will be capped at 60 people.
